The ACT (/ eÉ s iÉ• t iÉ• /; originally an abbreviation of American College Testing) is a standardized test used for college admissions in the United States. It was first introduced in November 1959 by University of Iowa professor Everett Franklin Lindquist as a competitor to the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT). It is currently administered by ACT, a nonprofit organization of the same name.

Definition. If  $Z_1, \dots, Z_k$  are independent, standard normal random variables, then the sum of their squares,  $\sum_{i=1}^k Z_i^2$ , is distributed according to the chi-squared distribution with  $k$  degrees of freedom. This is usually denoted as  $\chi^2_k$ . The chi-squared distribution has one parameter:  $k$ , a positive integer that specifies the number of degrees of freedom (the number of  $Z_i$ 's).
